ADVERTISING

Has created many a new business;
Has enlarged many an old business;
Has revived many a dull business;
Has rescued many a lost business;
Has saved many a failing business;
Has preserved many a large business;
And insures success in any business.

GIRARD'S SECRET.—Stephen Girard used to say in his old age: "I have always considered advertising liberally and long to be the great medium of success in business, and the prelude to wealth. And I have made it an invariable rule to advertise in dull times as well as busiest, long experience having taught me that money thus spent is well laid out, as by continually keeping my business before the public it has secured many sales I otherwise would have lost."

ADVERTISE YOUR BUSINESS.
KEEP YOUR NAME BEFORE THE PUBLIC.
JUDICIOUS ADVERTISING INSURES A PROFIT.
IF BUSINESS IS DULL, ADVERTISE.
IF BUSINESS IS BRISK, ADVERTISE.

feb1d1m JAMES GAMBLE, Gen'l Superintendent

American Commerce.

[From the Boston Journal of Commerce.]

Once more an effort to revive the commerce of the nation has been defeated in Congress, this time by a bill introduced by Hon. Samuel Shellabarger, of Ohio. We shall not presume as some of our contemporaries, to make minute reference to a bill that we have neither seen nor read, but from the details that we have gleaned from the meager telegraphic dispatches its special object would appear to have been the establishment of a Board of Commissioners of Commerce, consisting of the Secretaries of the Treasury, the Navy and the Interior, and the Postmaster General, with a secretary to be appointed by the President of the United States. This Board was to be empowered to grant bounties of $15 a ton for iron steamships, and $12 a ton for other steamships built in the United States to an amount not exceeding 100,000 tons a year, and to provide for steamship lines with one or more of the principal ports of Great Britain and of the continent of Europe, with the West India Islands and Mexico, and between San Francisco and Australia. The annual expenditure called for and recommended for five years was $5 000,000, a ridiculous small sum, and why members opposed the bill on the ground of its extravagance in the shape of bounties is highly illustrative of Washington wisdom and farsightedness. Our objection to the bill, as we now understand it, would be that the construction of steamships alone provided for, and that no provision is made to insure these vessels a profitable patronage when constructed, so that they can compete with their British rivals.

Of what use is it to construct a vessel and have her lay idle because no Government contracts are awarded? The foreign mails and the generous subsidies attached thereto, have given to England her magnificent steamship mail lines, that are to-day the envy of the world. Without them the Cunard line could never have lived, and that line having illustrated the working of the subsidy policy, other lines were established and fostered in a similar manner. "Cheap postage" brought surplus after surplus into the Chancellor of the Exchequer's hands to enable him to carry out his plans. The argument advanced was hard to combat: "We are a producing nation; our shops are flooding our home markets, and a sale for these goods must be secured, or disasters will come upon the commercial prosperity of the nation. We must distribute them, circulate them, place them in the hands of foreign commission merchants in all sections of the world; but the business will sink if rapid and cheap means of transportation be not provided; the nation cannot demand of capitalists to provide those means, which may turn out unprofitable, so must insure them against all loss by granting them handsome subsidies to insure the success of their ventures, and when they are old enough to fly alone, why, we will withdraw or reduce our subsidies."

On a similar logical ground the protection of home industries has been recognized as the true policy for this country, only in some instances, we regret to be obliged to acknowledge, the "fly-alone" policy has been ignored and now industries, instead of being protected from foreign competition, are gross monopolies—a disgrace to the national authorities, who evidently fail to recognize the difference between protection and taxation. If Mr. Shellabarger and his colleagues on the Committee on Commerce who unanimously supported the bill, can show similar logical grounds in support of the same we have not yet discovered them, inasmuch as the question of business or profit attached to building steamships is not touched upon, so far as we have yet discovered. In short, they fail to tell us what is to be done with these vessels when constructed; and therein is the vital question.

As we understand the measure, the argument advanced is, that as England can build iron ships nine and a half per cent. cheaper than we can, the bounty of $15 per ton accorded to every iron steamship in this country, counterbalances this; but we are given no figures to show that this is the case, and are led naturally to suppose the same. The question of business is, as we have already stated, ignored, and in short little can be learned as to what wonders those four million dollars annually were to perform, and the bill has been tabled on the first vote.

The building up of our commerce should rest with the Postmaster General. From his department should come sufficient surplus to enable the Secretary of the Treasury to comfortably pay a premium on mail rates of twenty-five per cent. to American built and owned steamships carrying the mails from these shores to any foreign port, over the rates paid to British steamships. And if twenty per cent. will not permanently establish American mail steamships, then increase the premium with discretion, and add, if necessary, a smaller one, to be allowed on every thousand bushels or tons of American produce or American manufactured goods exported by American steamships. "Cheap postage," cheap internal transportation, combined with a system on the plan that we suggest, will give us as magnificent steamships as England to-day can boast of. But to do this, a noble strength of purpose must be exhibited by our legislators that does not exist at Washington, as the country well knows,—the "grab" game being still popular there.

Mr. Postmaster-General: Secure a reduction in the present rate of postage! If you were going to give us cheap postal cards, you can do this, since to transport a card has been discovered in England to cost as much as to transport a letter. Battle against the abuses of the franking privilege. Have the same only connected with the mailing of "official" documents. Work for a surplus to be expended in subsidies to American mail steamship lines.

Mr. Shellabarger and men of your stamp: Bring up the matter of "Uniform Rates of Freight!" Devote your attention to the term of "Railroad Rule" with which the country is now threatened. Secure to Congress a recognition of its power to control the railroads of the country and to establish laws to regulate all commerce. Secure legislation that will reduce the extortions of railroad monopolies, so that five bushels of grain will not be consumed in the transportation of one to the seaboard. Having done this, gentlemen, then bring forward your succor to American commerce, for you will have previously laid the foundation for a business for American steamships, without which it is useless to build them."

NOT ALONE.—The farmers of Oregon are not alone in the present agitation concerning freight, monopolies and self-protection. The present awakening is national. Our exchanges from every part of the Union indicate a wide-spread feeling among producers that something must be done. Every great reform begins with just such agitation. We doubt not many blunders will be made. In their haste to right things many will advocate extreme and hurtful measures. But in the end the agitation will bring the desired result. Out of chaos order will come at last. Let farmers be everywhere awake. Let them organize, read, think and write their thoughts. Let the missiles of healthy agitation fly thick and fast, and the battle will be sooner ended. —Willamette Farmer.

Some men are always unlucky. An industrious watchmaker of St Paul, Minn, lately fell heir to a fortune of £60 000 by the death of his aunt in England, and died before he heard of it. It was provoking that his aunt did not die sooner or he not so soon.

With quiet sarcasm a [illegible] that after the Chase heirs get 3[illegible] 000 000 more or less, from England, they will confer a fav[illegible] by liquidating a small debt at the office.

DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN

EASTERN DATES TO FEBRUARY 23.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Congressional.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—No members of the House believe that the resolution demanding the expulsion of Ames and Brooks can secure a majority even, much less a two thirds vote. Some of the members of both political parties express the opinion that, instead, a general resolution of censure should be passed affecting all members of the House who have been interested in Credit Mobilier operations. At present twenty gentlemen are prepared to speak on the subject. Everybody anticipates exciting proceedings on Tuesday.

Preparations for the Inaugural.

Extensive preparations are making for inauguration ceremonies. Various military and civil organizations will form a parade only equaled at the time they were reviewed at the close of the war. The inauguration will be the grandest ever given in the country. The President, Vice President, Cabinet Ministers, Senators, Representatives, Foreign Ministers and distinguished civilians from all parts of the Union will be in attendance on the 5th of March. The President, Secretary of War and Secretary of the Navy will review the West Point and naval academy cadets. A portion of Pennsylvania avenue will be assigned for their parade and maneuvers. As numerous organizations will be in attendance it is probable that several of the broad avenues of Washington will be occupied by them in competative drills.

The Extra Session.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Specials say at the extra session of the Senate for the 4th of March, the President will nominate for reappointment every member of his Cabinet, including Boutwell, who proposes to retire in March if elected Senator from Mass. Secretary Fish has decided to remain through the next administration, and will be included in the nominations.

A Drunken Judge.

Another special says the Judiciary Committee have determined to present articles of impeachment against United States Judge Delahay, of Kansas, whose case they have begun to examine. The charge is habitual drunkenness, and the frequent commission of gross indecencies while on the bench under the influence of liquor. One of the witnesses is Senator elect Ingalls, who agreed to pay Delahay's son-in-law $5,000 if he would keep the Judge sober long enough to open court and sign some very important papers. This was done, but Ingall's clients refused to pay the money, and he declined to hold himself liable, when suit was brought by Osborne, Delahay's son-in-law, to enforce payment. Delahay was appointed from Illinois in 1866.

Fire at Washington.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—The fancy goods store of Gottlieb & Beberns, Seventh street near O street, was burned last night. The loss is estimated at $40 000.

EASTERN STATES.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—A large representation of Spaniards met at the Molson Dorce last evening to celebrate the establishment of a Republic in Spain. Speeches were made, and in the course of one by Senator de Conta, he said he looked upon the establishment of the Republic as a virtual abolition of slavery in Spanish dependencies. During the evening, he sent a telegram to the Cabinet of Spain, congratulating them upon the establishment of a republican form of government, and assuring them of the hearty sympathy and support of all Spaniards in America.

Severe Weather in Maine.

PORTLAND (Me), Feb 23.—Trains on all railroads have been detained by the recent snow storm, it being the heaviest known in this section for years.

Marine Disaster.

KEY WEST (Florida), Feb. 23.—The ship Norcester, from New Orleans to Liverpool, with cotton, put in here to-day with her cargo on fire, which has been burning since the 20th inst. There is no prospect of saving either the ship or cargo.

The Coldest.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—At eight o'clock this morning the thermometer on Broadway was at zero, with very cold winds. The weather is the coldest of the season.

Burned to Death.

At Yorkville yesterday morning Elizabeth McGuinnis, a beautiful and accomplished young lady, was burned to death in consequence of her clothing catching fire while she was preparing breakfast.

Striking for Eight Hours.

Various trade organizations, principally German, held separate meetings yesterday for the purpose of inaugurating a general strike, to take place shortly, for the enforcement of the eight hour system and other measures to better their condition.

Embezzler Arrested.

A broker named Samuel McKiel was last evening arrested and taken back to his house in Cambridgeport, Massachusetts, on a charge of having embezzled five thousand dollars, belonging to Fitch, Otis & Co, of this city.

A Legal Dilemma.

Washington specials have the following: In an interview yesterday with Representative Bingham, chairman of the Judiciary Committee, that gentleman stated that the House had no jurisdiction whereby the case of Vice President Colfax could be reached by impeachment. It had been decided in the Senate that that body had no jurisdiction over the alleged offense of its members not committed during their connection with the Senate. His opinion is that like reasoning is applicable to the case of members of the House.

Poland's Report.

The report of the Judiciary Committee on the Poland report has been prepared by Gen. Butler.

Judge Herman's Case.

As to the case of Judge Herman which was considered by the committee, Peters, a member of the committee, says there was not enough evidence to justify any action. The committee will recommend that his case be referred to the next House for consideration.

The Credit Mobilier.

Peters don't think that a majority of the House will vote for the expulsion of any Credit Mobilier.

Butler will make a defense of Ames.

Congress has no time to take action for the impeachment of Colfax

The Committee's report will assail the Poland report.

Butler in seeking to save Ames will give the defendants a chance to attempt to save Brooks.

Burglary.

The Herald's dispatch says that on Saturday afternoon four thousand dollars worth of bonds and coupons, were stolen from Vice President Colfax's house.

Death of Mrs. Willard.

CHICAGO, Feb. 24.—Mrs. S. O. G. Willard, the well known advocate of Woman's Rights, died at her residence in this city on Saturday, of heart disease.

Important Decision.

The Supreme Court of Illinois has just rendered a decision in a case involving the constitutionality of what is known as the railroad law of the State—a law regulating passenger and freight tariffs on various railroads of the State. The case was appealed from one of the Circuit Courts where the case was rendered against the Chicago & Alton Company, in a suit to recover damages for non-compliance with the law. The Supreme Court decides that the law is unconstitutional, inasmuch as it prohibits any discrimination in fixing freights, but the court holds that the Legislature has the undoubted right to control railroads in the matter of providing against (un)just discrimination.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

Spanish Affairs.

MADRID, Feb 23.—The excitement is increasing, particularly among the Insurrectionists. There is an apprehension of barricades appearing, and the Red Republicans are urging extreme measures. The Carlists, in their operations and intrigues, are very active, and the army is dissatisfied.

Ministerial Banquet.

MADRID, Feb. 23.—Minister Sickles gave a reception last evening, which was attended by Castelar and leading diplomats and men of letters in the city. Several representatives of the Spanish nobility were present. The reception was followed by a ball to the diplomatic corps, which lasted till 4 A. M.

The Spanish Cabinet.

MADRID, Feb 23.—Of the expected changes in the Ministry it is considered probable that Chao will be Minister of Finance, Suances, Minister of Marine; Arberzuga, Minister of the Colonies, and Sponville Narvillas, Minister of War

The city is tranquil. A grand Republican mass meeting is called for to-morrow.

ARIZONA.

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 22.—Speaking of the operations of Cochise and warriors, the Tucson Citizen of the 15th inst editorially says that about the 11th of January these Apaches killed Don Leopoldo Vallencia, and member of the Supreme Court of Sonora and friend and servant, at a place called LaBrrsextilla, nine miles northeast of Urez, the capital of Sonora. About the same time a train was attacked near there and two men killed and the mules all taken. A few men followed the Apaches two days and nights but being poorly armed as compared with their desert foes, and being so many less in number, they gave up the chase. Their trail was leading directly to the Huachuca mountains, not far west of Cochise's reserve.

CALIFORNIA.

From San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb 23.—The steamship Eastport, built at Potrero, made a successful trial trip yesterday. Cost, $75,000.

Several persons identified the body found in the bay last Friday, as that of H. Jones, formerly of Stockton.

The weather is again cloudy with every prospect of a rain storm to-night

The Montana arrived from Panama last night.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb 24.—There have been 200 murders in this city in twenty one years. Of this number eleven were executed by officers of the law, and two committed suicide in jail; one, G. W. Colmore, on the day he was to have been executed

The [illegible] anniversary of the Chinese Sunday School of the [illegible] gational Church, was celebrated last night. The average attendance for the year was 74.

The Mohongo has been thoroughly overhauled and repaired, and will sail for Panama on the 27th.

The residence of G. O. Brigham, at Oakland, burned Saturday night. Loss, $12,000; insured for $5,000 in the Firemen's Fund.

Passenger overland, R. H. Rose, Oregon.

At Agricultural Park, Saturday, a running race between Thad. Stevens, Tommy Chandler, Katie Gift, Lizzie Mann and Nellie Brown, for a purse of $300, was won by the latter.

John Devine, alias the Chicken, was brought before the Twelfth District Court to-day for the second trial for the murder of August Camp. Two hundred jurors have been summoned, and the Court will probably be occupied half the day in hearing excuses of persons who do not wish to serve in the case.

INTERIOR CALIFORNIA DISPATCHES.

STOCKTON, Feb. 23.—A fire occurred this morning at about three o'clock in some buildings situated on the corner of Weber avenue and Sutter streets. The buildings were old shells owned by J. K. Doak and occupied by Roberts & Co., marble cutters, loss, $4,000, insured for $1,000; Wemple & Hunteon, broom makers, loss, $2,000; T. W. Brench, loss trifling; Small & Armstrong, candy and fruit store, loss $400. The fire is supposed to be the work of incendiaries.

VALLEJO, Feb 23.—Isaac Robinson who was shot by Watkinson was buried to-day. The funeral was largely attended. Watkinson is still in jail. His preliminary examination will take place on Monday. Watkinson relies upon the plea of self defense.

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 22.—Weather warm and clear; thermometer showing in the shade at noon 70 degrees.

Real estate transactions are assuming greater proportions gradually.

From the Seat of Uncertainty.

YREKA, Feb. 24.—From Dr. Cabaness we received the following:

"VANBREMER'S, Feb 23.—Bob Whittle and squaw went out to the lava bed to-day to see Capt. Jack. There will, I think, be peace. Ten Indians are in favor of it, and ten against it, and the balance are indifferent. Meacham sent in a message to Jack, saying that the President wanted peace, not because he was afraid of him, as he had soldiers beyond the power of the Indians to number. The Indians were rejoiced and glad to receive a message from the Peace Commission. Jack complained of the citizens fighting him, and said he only wanted to fight soldiers; that they hunted him like coyotes and he wanted the blockade raised to get free; he was tired of talking to women and wanted the Peace Commission to send them on Saturday. A messenger was to return to Capt. Jack to make arrangements as to time and place of meeting with the Commissioners. Whittle went to see Jack, and Jack said he was willing to talk, but wanted Rosbrough, Steel and Fairchild present. One of the Indians came down to Fairchild's. The Indians are heavily armed—all having needle guns and some had two hundred cartridges on their person. Tuesday is the day set for council. Judge A. M. Rosbrough has been added to the commission by the President. This gives stronger hope of peace among our citizens.

THE TERRITORIES.

The last concert given by the Old Folks at Olympia netted above $60.

J. B. Norris has been appointed a commissioner of deeds for Washington Territory, to reside at New York city.

A very distinct shock of earthquake was felt in Silver City, about half-past eleven o'clock at night on the 13th inst.

John L. Shearer of Lopez Island, Whatcom county, W. T., has been commissioned as a notary public by Gov. Ferry.

The new bridge between Upper and Lower Steilacoom is now completed. The ladies devoted $70 toward the work of building.

Father Mesplie the famous Catholic Missionary among the Indians, arrived at Silver city, Idaho, on the 14th inst. from Winnemucca.

B. Gaizert, foamerly of Portland, but for several years of Seattle, has gone with his family on a visit to Europe and to attend the Vienna Exposition.

In a recent breach of promise trial in Idaho, a lady witness defined "courtship" to be "looking at each other, taking hold of each other's hands and all that kind of thing."

The Seattle Coal Company is now mining about 150 tons of coal per day. The demand for coasting vessels on the Sound is quite brisk, owing to the growing trade in coal and lumber.

The Seattle Dispatch says: "About 11 o'clock on Sunday night, two large whales were seen for over half an hour swimming around the bay near the mill boom." Swimming around the bay is new for whales.

The Indianapolis Journal of the 23d ult. among other published proceedings of the Indiana Legislature has this: "A recess was then taken by the House for the purpose of receiving General Tom. Bennett, Governor of Idaho, when most of the members came forward and tendered their respects."

"The Simcoe Reservation," says a correspondent, "embraces all the good land in Kittitas Valley, and extends within 45 miles of the mouth of the Yakima on the south side, and up to Yakima City. Some of the Indians have farms on the reservation, own work horses, plows and wagons, and live and work a good deal like white people."

A Farmer's club has been permanently organized at Pleasant Grove, Yakima, with very flattering prospects of success. It organized with the election of Mr. Whitson, President; Mr. Smiidy, Vice-President; John Shandy, Secretary; Mr Frisby, Corresponding Secretary; and Mathias Becker, Treasurer. The club has already a large membership, and bids fair to have it largely increased.

The Steilacoom Express says: "The North Pacific Commercial Company are again at work making oil, etc. We understand that under the new superintendent the factory has turned out during the month of February a quantity of oil equal to that of the whole of last summer under the former 'boss.'" We have been informed that the "former boss" made it pay very large dividends—for himself.

The Olympia Tribune says: "At Tenino it is said that Mr. E. S. Smith, of Kalama, has received the contract for building the forty-mile section of railroad from the end of the track at that place to the Puyallup Valley, in Pierce county, and is already looking about him for men and materials with which to prosecute the work. We do not pretend to any official information, but give the report as we heard it.

On Wednesday of last week a man named Shaw, working in the moulding shop of S. N. Cooper, at Tumwater, narrowly escaped meeting his death. A moulding iron broke from its place, and was shot with great force across the room, cutting the skin but not the flesh of his throat, in its passage. A change of a single inch in its direction would probably have ended the man's earthly existence. Shaw is the unfortunate individual who was buried by the clay bank which caved in Olympia last summer.

The Olympia Transcript of last Saturday says: "A few evenings ago, a very young hoodlum amused himself by knocking at the doors of people and then running away. He should be caught and talked to like a father, and made to join the church and the Young Men's Christian Association, or else walloped like thunder—we haven't decided which yet. The last meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association in Swantown was very boisterous. One Chinaman cut another Chinaman's head, stole his money, and ran out of reach of the authorities, and a few drunken Indians may have been sent to jail, but the police news is very slim and the town has been very orderly.

The petrified body of an Aleut Indian has recently been discovered by some hunters at or near Kodiak, Alaska, in a cave. The body was that of a large sized man, and was as completely preserved as if it had only been embalmed yesterday. The hair, teeth and other portions were as perfect as at the moment of death. It is now in the possession of Collector Charon of Kodiak. This gentleman tried to find a purchaser for it in San Francisco, but was unsuccessful. He is now in correspondence with the Smithsonian Institute in regard to the mummy, and hopes to be able to get rid of the "elephant." It is supposed that the mummy has been for ages in the cave where it was discovered. It is a strange fact that the Aleuts of to-day know nothing about the embalming process of their ancestors.

In the Right Path

The organizations of Farmers' clubs throughout the country is hailed by every true friend of the State as an omen of good. Oregon is essentially an agricultural and stock-grazing country, and the Farmers' clubs are in the interest of these two branches of farming. At one meeting the question discussed relates to stock raising, at another to grain growing, and then to the all-absorbing question: how shall we carry our produce to market at rates that will allow us some compensation for our own labor, and for the money we invest? The farmers discuss these questions from the standpoint of an immediate and vital interest in them, and therefore with a keener intelligence than any other class of persons could bring to their consideration. The editors of newspapers may sit in their offices and write high sounding articles about the wisdom of this plan, and the unwisdom of that, but the most of the common sense that is brought to bear upon subjects of this nature, and that finally wins the general endorsement, comes from the farmers themselves—from their club discussions, or their published letters. As a specimen of this, look at the newspaper rhetoric about "diversified industry." It is all very well to urge a farming community to consider the fact that their industries must be more diversified, that they must not rely on the cultivation of the soil and stock-raising alone, but must have manufactories of all kinds in their midst. This, we repeat is all very fine, but suppose the farmers have all they can do to make ends meet from year to year, how are they to build factories? Diversified industries would be a great advantage, and would greatly increase the prosperity of the whole community, the farmers included. But for the present, and, so far as we can see, for the indefinite future, the farmers of Oregon will have to rely upon their grain fields, their orchards and their pastures, and the sensible thing for them to do is to make the most of the present, to husband their present resources, and make the best use of whatever opportunities they may have to assist in the development—always slow—which may sometimes place them upon an equal footing with the great manufacturing communities. This is the gist of the discussions at the various club meetings, and it indicates that the farmers themselves have a clearer perception of the situation than those who write essays upon the diversification of industry as the only road to prosperity.

A writer in the Washington Chronicle reviews the lecture on "Abraham Lincoln," delivered by Rev. Jas. A. Reed of Springfield, Illinois, in that city, a few weeks since. The aim of the lecturer was to refute the charges and innuendoes contained in a so-called "Life of Lincoln," recently published by one who professed to be intimately acquainted with the martyr President. Just after the assassination of Mr. Lincoln, a drunken loafer of Springfield, Illinois, announced that he would shortly publish the life of the Emancipator, but for some reason the promise was not [illegible] "The reason," said the lecturer, "was that the author, after collecting his materials, could not raise money enough to publish it, his means being absorbed by deep potations of whisky; nay, more, his manuscript was pledged to the First National Bank of Springfield to enable him to continue his debauchery."

Several years after Mr. Lincoln's death, another so-called [illegible] one who had been honored by the dead President with one of the best offices in the District of Columbia—purchased the manuscript for $2,000, and issued the infidel trash, with all its innuendoes, as his own, and as such it is now circulating."

The lecturer thought that, in his early life, Mr. Lincoln may have imbibed some of the skepticism of border-life, but it is indisputably a fact that in after years he was a firm and consistent believer in the truth of the Christian religion. On this latter point, Mr. Reed cited ample evidence, furnished by Rev. Dr. Smith (Mr. Lincoln's pastor at Springfield), Dr. Sunderland, Schuyler Colfax, Bishop Simpson, Noah Brooks of the N. Y. Tribune, and other eminent men. It has long been urged in support of certain creeds, that Mr. Lincoln was a skeptic, but the evidence of so many personal friends of the lamented President must needs be conclusive.

Just now, withdrawn from the perplexing questions of church and state, the noble Duke of Somerset studies the relative values of the locomotive and the fiddle. If the assertion of Mr. Gladstone, "that for proof of intellect he would balance the violin against the locomotive," were allowed to go unrebuked, how soon, inquires the indignant Duke, may not the last bulwark of our constitution be battered into nonentity? Sage inquiry! "But," [illegible] the last rose of Somerset,—his broad soul inflated with visions of a land rent with hot feuds 'twixt Caloric and Calliope,—"but what has the violin done for the civilization of the world? Men have been scraping upon squeaking strings for the past three hundred years, and what good has the world gained? The locomotive has got all through Europe, and has even got into Japan. I should like [illegible] fiddle has ever done the same?" [illegible] Were there then no val[illegible] ing to the rescue of much-[illegible] one. More Investigation.

It appears likely that before the spirit of investigation is finally allayed, every enterprise that has received assistance from the Government will have to submit to a rigid scrutiny. The defeat of a scheme by which the Brazilian steamship line hoped to secure a subsidy, is suspected of having been compassed, or at at least desired, by the Pacific mail Company, whereupon the promoters of the Brazilian enterprise propose to tell what they know about the means by which the Pacific Mail secured its government aid. It is said a half million of dollars were expended on Congress and in Congressional lobbying, to secure the passage of the law authorizing this subsidy. It is to be hoped, for the credit of the nation, that this statement may prove untrue, and that the entire story of corruption in obtaining this legislation may prove to be merely the invention of persons who are chafing at the defeat of their own schemes. But if the thing is true; if the railway companies' briberies are eclipsed by the greater operations of the steamship companies, that fact may as well be made known. The country has gone too far already in opening up to public gaze the rascalities of its inside workings, to think of stopping short of a thorough airing of the entire subject. Whatever was the effect of those investigations upon the particular parties concerned, the general reputation of the nation can scarcely be stained more than it has been already. And on the other hand, the Pacific Mail investigations may demonstrate that a few individuals, having been involved in disreputable transactions, are now engaged in trumping up charges against others, to divide, if they cannot avoid, the odium that ought to fall upon themselves. In any event, the truth should be told, and that without stopping long to inquire where fortunes may be made or marred by it. If it has come to be the case that every enterprise that needs government encouragement, must fill the palms of Congressmen and Senators with coin in order to secure their attention to the public welfare, or to induce them to befriend these private speculations to the injury of the general public, this is a truth that should not be kept from the public.

The New York Times alleges that recent developments in the Tammany frauds will form the basis for new indictments by the grand jury "of a number of individuals who now consider themselves secure in their ill-gotten gains." The evidence so far secured has been tabulated in documentary form and is surprising in its character. In the special-audit fraud alone a larceny of $10,000,000 can be proven. The evidence lately discovered affords a clue to the actual disposition of this enormous sum, and clearly indicates both the persons who received it and the amounts of their percentage. It is understood that Tweed received as his share of these peculations $1,500,000. There is not a department of the City government which has not suffered. The amount stolen was estimated by the Committee of Citizens in 1871 at $26,000,000. The investigations now going on place the amount at $20,000,000 at least, and the Times believes that the grand total will finally exceed the estimate of 1871.

In the closing session of the Poland Committee, the question of the jurisdiction of the committee in the matter of offences committed by members of a previous Congress, two of the committee were decided in their opinion that the present House could call such members to account. One maintained that Congress could inflict no punishment in such cases, while the remaining two were unwilling to express an opinion, although they were inclined to deny the jurisdiction of the present Congress. The Committee finally agreed to strike from their record all that pertained to the acts of members of any former Congress, as well as all evidence attacking Senators. This latter will be certified to the Senate, which body will be left to take such action as it may deem proper.

The telegraph has not yet informed us of the election of Senator Wilson's successor which was to have taken place in the Massachusetts General Court on the 18th inst. The brilliant who compiles our San Francisco dispatches is doubtless occupied with the pleasant details of feuds on Barbary Coast. We shall know whether it be Boutwell, Dawes or Loring when the next Congress shall meet.

Letter from a Polk County Republican.

POLK COUNTY, Feb. 22, 1873.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

I have been a reader of the OREGONIAN for a long time, and while perhaps I have no claim upon that paper, yet I would like to be indulged so far as to make it the medium of a few reflections:

I am an old Republican: have been such ever since that party had an organization, and have been regarded as a very strong partisan. Hence, it is with profound regret that I notice your neighbor, the Bulletin, a professed Republican journal, persist as it does in charging the OREGONIAN with seeking an alliance with the Democracy, and Mr. Corbett's friends with having been unfaithful to the Republican party.

I read the OREGONIAN with a great deal of care, and am frank to confess that my mind is too obtuse to see its Democratic tendency.

Certainly it has lost nothing in editorial ability or dignity since it changed hands, and the most intelligent of those with whom I have conversed, regard it as a much more acceptable and reliable Republican newspaper than when it was under the editorial management of the present editor of the Bulletin.

It is notorious that for a year or more before he retired from the OREGONIAN the paper had lost most of its former dignity and independence. So strong was the feeling on the point that many were heard to say "that we no longer have a Republican paper, and would rejoice to see one started that had some soul in it, and whose editor had the pluck to disregard the dictation of one man."

I heartily approve of the manly and judicious course of the OREGONIAN in avoiding everything that was calculated to stir up strife and weaken us as a party. But since the Bulletin seems determined to force a controversy, I hope the OREGONIAN and its friends will not be backward in unveiling some of the hidden past.

If the editor of that paper supposes he is adding strength to our party, or is securing reputation for himself as a Republican, or that the course he pursues meets with the approbation of any considerable number of the Republicans of this State, he is mistaken. At least he is mistaken so far as this county is concerned. I have heard but one sentiment in relation to the matter, and that is one of condemnation.

It is a new doctrine that for a Republican to accept Democratic votes he violates party usage or disregard partys fealty. If such is the doctrine of the Republican party I do not belie e that it would be much of a task to show that the editor of the Bulletin and his friends have done quite as much of that kind of work as have those who choose to differ from him as to who should be the U. S. Senator.

I wish to say in conclusion that I am desirous of saying in an old fashioned way what I know about politics, if the OREGONIAN has independence of character enough to allow a few communications to be inserted, whe'her they are regarded as entirely orthodox or not. I do not ask that the Republican party be held responsible for anything I say, and you, sir, can criticise my letters as much as you wish.

JUSTICE.

Letter from Lapwai.

FORT LAPWAI, I. T., Feb. 16, 1873

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Since writing you last we have had a few pleasant days of real spring weather, which to us has been a source of much rejoicing. Everybody and all their friends were busy in anticipation of sunny days and preparations for gardening were under a full headway of steam, but this morning the snow is coming in royal style, and the planting of early vegetables is postponed sine die, so the plow, spades and hoes are put aside, and the Modoc war is being discussed.

NOTES OF WAR

I am informed Col Sanford, commandant of this post, has received a telegram from Gen. Canby, requesting him to have his troop in readiness at any moment he may be called upon to march to the lava beds, and you can imagine how furiously the officers and men of the troop are rushing around and making all the preparations necessary to "get up and dust" after Mr Modoc and make him "walk off on his ear." But why the troops should be moved from this section of the country I cannot imagine, as many are of the opinion the Indians in the Wallowa Valley, as well as the Indians occupying the country north of this settlement, will give the white settlers much trouble this spring and summer.

The Indians in the Wallowa Valley are of the Nez Perce tribe, and are, and always have been, "non treaty" to the backbone, and are very unwilling to have the whites settle there, though the Wallowa is not on any Indian reservation. These Indians are under the leadership of Old Joseph's son, who, in conjunction with Eagle-from-the-light, Red Heart and several other "non-treaty" chiefs, could make it "mighty hot" for the boys, as that portion of the country is very mountainous, densely timbered and abounds in all kinds of game, while the streams and lakes afford excellent fishing, and certainly is just such a country as Indians can fight in to a great advantage.

THE NEZ PERCE AGENCY.

Three miles from this post is located the Nez Perce Indian Agency, under jurisdiction of John B. Monteith, Esq. At this agency, and for the express benefit of the Indians, is a saw and flouring mill, a carpenter, blacksmith and wheelwright shop, and if any Indian desires to learn either of the above trades, all possible assistance is cheerfully given to induce him to do so. There is also a good school, in which are employed competent teachers who use every endeavor to teach the Indians to read and write, and many are improving very rapidly in their studies. The scholars, when out of school, are under the charge of a matron, a very estimable person, who attends to their clothing, food, and sees they are kept clean, and teaches the girls to do house work and sewing.

KAMIA SUB-AGENCY.

About 45 miles from here is the Sub Agency of Kamia, which also contains all the conveniences of the Lapwai Agency, and is said to contain the choicest land and timber on the reservation. At both agencies they have divine service every Sabbath.

C.

OREGON.

The buildings of the Agricultural College will accommodate 300 pupils.

Jesse Applegate is Chairman of the Modoc Peace Commission, and O. C. Applegate is Secretary.

The Upper Columbia is said to be lower at this time than at a corresponding period in the season for several years past.

A lot of retorts, blow pipes, a battery, and a quantity of chemicals arrived last week for use in the labratory of Corvallis College.

Potato planting has begun in Benton county. We guess they had better plant them deep, or this weather will beat the planters at "freeze out."

A gentleman down from Salem on Monday says since the Supreme Court and Temperance All ance left, the town wears the appearance of supreme quietness.

Rev. J. M. Lovell, of Dallas, met with a painful accident last week, by the bursting of a gun in his hands. One of his eyes was injured, but to what extent we are unable to learn.

A gentleman just down from Corvallis informs us that wheat buyers in Benton county are very quiet at present and that he thinks but few more sales will be made there this season. The highest price paid there this season was 80 cents per bushel, but that was only one day.

A gentleman from Yamhill county informs us that the wheat crop in that county the present year is not likely to be quite as large as it was last. Many farmers up there have begun to practice the system of rotation in crops and will sow other cereals or plant vegetables, instead of wheat, the coming season.

The Pantagraph says the fare from Roseburg to Oakland, 18 miles distant, as collected on the cars, is $2, and the same to return, making it $4, at which rate a man can earn good wages by walking there and back the same day, which many farmers in the county now do who come to the county seat on business.

Mr. Head, of the Benton Democrat, informs us that arrangements have been made by the telegraph company's agent to have the office at Corvallis re established, and that in all probability the instruments have already been replaced. A city of the size and pretensions of Corvallis could illy afford to dispense with the electrical agent, and so her citizens have prevailed on the company to restore the establishment.

From W. R. Baker, who recently returned from Willow Creek, Wasco county, the Corvallis Democrat learn's that, owing to large importations last season from Texas, beef cattle will be quite low in Eastern Oregon next summer. Good stock sheep are in good demand at $4 per head. Mutton sheep are selling in that vicinity for $3. Mr. B. thinks sheep raisers will continue to realize good prices for the next year, large numbers of persons embarking in that business having a tendency to keep prices up.

Our correspondent writing from Empire City under date of the 18th says: The weather during the past week has been very stormy. To-day it is clear and cold, with northwest winds. On the 16th snow fell to the depth of one inch, and in some parts of the bay it was as much as seven inches deep. The arrivals and departures for the week ending February 18th were: Arrivals—bark Clara R. Sutil, schooner Pacific. Sailed—schooners Marrietta, Margaret Crockard, Concordia, Stranger and Glenarm.

The Ramparts of Quebec.

THEY ARE TO BE DESTROYED.

The Minerve de Montreal announces and comments upon a fact which every one that has visited the picturesque old world city of Quebec will learn with a feeling of regret. The ramparts are to be removed, and with them a great deal of the attractiveness of the place. The Minerve says:

"We have a town in Canada, unique of its kind, possessing a physiognomy of its own very fascinating to strangers. With its belt of old walls, bastions and redoubts, and its stately citadel worthy of image reflected in the river that bathes her feet. Quebec looks like an old French town transplanted into America, and has a stamp of antiquity not to be found either at Montreal or New York, nor in any of the multitude of American cities that seem all to be a reproduction of each other. From its old streets and old fortifications arise a perfume of the past that we, cooped up in modern architecture, and used to the straight lines and right angles of our streets, and living in familiarity with monuments of yesterday, inhale with pure delight.

It is the stamp of antiquity that to strangers makes the charm of Quebec, and still it seems that the city of Champlain, which we are tempted to call 'cette bonne veille de Quebec' as Henry IV. said of Paris, is about to throw its walled crown into the river, and rob itself of its old attire in order to dress itself in modern costume, and to resemble—what? Montreal, Toronto and Cincinnati!

It will pain us to see the destroyer's pick-ax attack the stones that speak of the past, that recall so many historical remembrances. Henry Ward Beecher said that Quebec seemed a history book to him, in which each street formed a leaf. Nothing is truer. You cannot take a step without stumbling against some monument recording an important fact, without finding yourself beside some souvenir of the past. Everything speaks of the time of the colony of the 'novelle France,' of our skirmishes and our wars; here are the first forts built by the French; here floated the flag bearing the image of the fleur de lyse; here, through this door, the soldiers went to fight the enemy. Montcalm, de Vaudreuil, Levis, Murray, Charleton, have appeared one after the other on these walls that will soon be made into wings for dwelling houses. It is not difficult to see that motive in the age of utility.

After all, Quebec is at liberty to do all she pleases, for we will be at least permitted to express one regret. We shall not fight because it wants to imitate us. The city of Champlain will always possess the amiability, the charm of its inhabitants, and their politeness to attract us. These will not disappear with their walls and bulwarks."

Yakima Indians

"Observer" writing, from Kittitass, W. T., under date of February 13th says:

Some few of the Indians of this valley have taken steps to become citizens. They have taken claims and pay taxes, and are farming on a small scale. The most of the Yakima tribe are very averse to going on the proposed new reservation across the Columbia river. There is quite an excitement among them because they think that when the warm weather comes there will be an effort made to force them away from their old homes, and to place them on another reservation set apart for their use. There appears to be a double scare; the whites have become alarmed and think that an outbreak of the Indians is imminent. Some of them, the most timid, are leaving their homes and talk seriously of building a block house for the protection of their families. A public meeting of the citizens living on the Yakima river has been called to take action in the matter. Our correspondent however is of the opinion that the scare on the part of the whites is groundless. He says "One of the most influential of the Indians told me he did not intend to go on the new reservation; that he always lived here. He would resist if they undertook to force him away. He would have it understood that he had a good heart toward the resident whites and would behave himself if left here."

A miserly millionaire of New Orleans having yielded to the overpowering temptation of a five cent glass of Ottowa beer, lately, gave himself a severe cowhiding and shut himself up in solitary confinement for a day. If delinquent members of Congress were to punish themselves in the same proportion for yielding to temptation, they would never be heard of more.

At the inauguration of Goveror Dix a salute was fired with the same gun which saw service at the inauguration of Gov. Seward, in 1838.

TUESDAY MORNING, FEBRUARY 25, 1873.

CITY.

A FINE STEAMER.—Yesterday we paid a visit to the splendid steamer Annie Stewart, concerning which so much has been said of late. This vessel is lying alongside the wharf at the foot of Main street undergoing the finishing touches of the painter, carpenters and engineer. She will be in complete running condition by to-morrow, when the public trial trip of the steamer will take place. As a description of this elegant steamer has never yet been given we publish the following details: The entire length of the vessel is 160 feet; beam, 26 feet; hold, 7 feet. Her registered capacity is 260 tons. The cabin is over 15 feet in height, and about 100 feet in length. About 20 feet of the rear portion of the cabin is devoted to the ladies' cabin. The main saloon, dining and gentlemen's room is about 60 feet long. The state rooms on each side of the cabin number 22, and contain about 66 berths. The ladies' cabin and dining room will be handsomely covered with fine Brussels carpeting and furnished with chairs and tables in corresponding style. Attached to the forward part of the cabin is a pantry, bar and office, each occupying different apartments. Throughout the boat has been overhauled and made almost new. Inside and out it has been handsomely painted, and arranged in first class style, with express reference to neatness, comfort and convenience to passengers. The Annie Stewart will be driven by two engines, each of six feet stroke and eighteen-inch bore, having a working capacity of over 200 horse-power. The wheel designed to propel the craft is 19 feet in diameter, 18 feet long and has 17 buckets, each bucket being 18 inches in width. The boiler which is to furnish the motive power, is twenty-six feet long, including the fire box tubes, 20 feet long and over 150 in number. When equipped and in perfect running trim, no steamer on the Columbia or Wallamet rivers can boast of superior speed. At the trial trip which comes off in a few days, we are informed that a number of invited guests will accompany the excursion. She will probably proceed to Oregon City and ascend the locks. Until the completion of the Governor Grover, the Stewart will run on the upper Wallamet, but on account of her size and draft she is unsuited to that line, and will be placed permanently on the lower Wallamet and Columbia. She is as fine and handsome a model as floats on our waters, and is inferior to no other vessel in the State for freight and passenger accommodations.

RULES FOR SUPERVISORS.—The following rules for the guidance of Road Supervisors of Multnomah county, were made by the County Court at its last sitting:

Each Supervisor must devote his labor upon the road in his district so as to divide the revenue derived from the taxable property therein in a fair and proportionate manner, so that all the roads may receive a share of the public money, and be kept in suitable condition for travel at all seasons of the year.

Supervisors must not be interested directly or indirectly in any contract let under the Supervisor in their district; nor in any teams employed in the improvement of the road therein.

Supervisors must fill out the monthly return blanks furnished them by the County Clerk, and file the same in the Clerk's office on or before the first Wednesday in each month.

Inasmuch as it costs a large per centage of the tax to defray the expenses of collecting it, together with a larger delinquent list than ought to occur, under a better system, it is recommended that Supervisors deputize some suitable person with authority to collect the road tax for their respective districts, who will give them proper security, and who will agree to collect all the road tax at a commission of 5 per cent., and perform all other duties required of him, appropriating to each district the amount that legally belongs thereto.

Supervisors must keep vouchers for all their expenditures, and send them in monthly with their report, when the amount will be passed to their credit on the County Clerk's books.

Supervisors must be subject to such other rules and regulations as may be from time to time promulgated by the County Clerk, due notice thereof being furnished to Supervisors.

The special attention of Supervisors is called to section 30 of the road law, concerning guide boards, and it is expected that Supervisors will attend at once to carrying out that clause of the road law by the erection of boards as called for therein.

A MERITED THRASHING.—Complaints have reached us frequently of late, of the conduct of a fellow in this city who has been addicted to the habit of following young girls on the streets after night. So persistent in his improper advances towards young ladies had this scoundrel grown, and so insolent in his attentions, that he was a terror to all girls in the western portion of the city. Several persons had on different occasions ventured to speak to this individual on his intolerable conduct, in terms more forcible than polite, but such admonitions produced no change in his insulting manners. On last Sunday the man was met in the northern part of the city by a gentleman whose sister he had frightened of late. The gentleman questioned him as to his motives for scaring a young girl in the manner he had. He received some insolent reply, when the gentleman lost his temper and proceeded to administer a terrible thrashing to the scoundrel. The chastisement was richly deserved, and it is to be hoped that it will be repeated each time with interest until the rascal will find other employment.

A DANGEROUS PRESENT.—Yesterday we observed several small boys playing on one of the back streets having in their possession a small four barrelled pistol. The weapon to all appearances was entirely new. A gentleman accosted the boy in whose hands the pistol was, and asked him if the pistol belonged to him. The boy replied in the affirmative. The gentleman then asked him in great surprise how he came in possession of such a dangerous toy, to which the urchin replied that his father had presented him with the pistol as a birth-day gift. The child had a number of cartridges along with the derringer. He was handling the pistol very carelessly, and in the midst of a crowd of boys, neither of whose ages exceeded ten years. If the child told the truth such conduct on the part of a parent is highly reprehensible, if not directly criminal. A weapon of that kind in the hands of a mere child is liable to inflict serious or fatal injuries at any moment. However, we incline to the opinion that no sane parent would present a child with such a gift, and that the little fellow obtained the weapon in some other manner.

THE HOME BALL.—Yesterday Mr. Morse, a member of the Committee of Arrangements appointed by the Young People's Social Club to superintend the management of the ball given last week by the Club for the benefit of "The Home" in this city, paid over to Mrs J. C. Ainsworth Secretary of the Home Society, the sum of five hundred and forty-one dollars and thirteen cents ($541 13) coin, that being the net proceeds of the ball. The success which has attended this effort on the part of the young gentlemen composing the Club mentioned, in aid of such a laudable object, is highly gratifying to themselves as well as encouraging to the society which is striving by means of the Home to help the destitute and unfortunate in our city. The committee of arrangements were untiring in their efforts and much credit is due them for the marked success which resulted in such material aid to the Home Society.

FIRE.—The clangor of the fire bells was heard yesterday afternoon about 3:30 o'clock above the hum and din of the city. A moment later, and the several fire companies were seen hurrying forward to the scene of the fire. The presence of the destroyer was soon detected by clouds of smoke, which were observed to issue from the residence of Mr. W. L. Higgins, at the corner of Clay and First streets. A portion of the roof where the chimney passed out, was discovered on fire. The department was on the ground with the usual alacrity and the fire quickly subdued. The total loss will not exceed $40.

GETTING UP STEAM.—We are informed that Protection No. 4 use a patent heating apparatus in connection with their fire engine, which enables the company to have sufficient steam in the boiler to throw a stream of water in an incredible short time. Yesterday, when the alarm of fire was sounded, there was enough steam pressure to throw a stream through the hose before the engine left the house for the scene of the fire, and plenty in the boiler before the ground was reached.

ON BOARD.—The boiler shell of the steamer Governor Grover and the fire box have been placed on board that craft. Workmen commenced yesterday to put in the tubes, which work will occupy some days to come. Within two or three weeks at the farthest, the boiler will be in readiness for service. The engines are also on board, and the steamer joinings are being attached. By the time the wood work of the boat is finished, everything will be in running order.

The Sacramento Record says: "It has been thought that a railroad from Portland, Oregon, to Salt Lake City, would be a useful thing. It had been suggested that its construction might be helped without a grant either of lands or bonds. A measure of the utility and public value of the road would be afforded by the land sales made along its line after its completion. The proposition therefore was to give the road a portion of the proceeds of such lands, as the same should be realized. No one appears to have yet had the ingenuity to suggest any substantial objection to procuring the construction of this or any other railroad through wild lands by this means. But the House of Representatives has fallen into so abject a funk over the Union Pacific scandal that the Public Lands Committee strangled the Portland and Salt Lake bill. Which is so much the better for San Francisco—toll-taker, and so much the worse for worse for Portland—toll-payer."

REDUCTION OF POSTAGE ON SEEDS, CUTTINGS, ETC.—Postmaster General Creswell has issued a circular to Postmasters calling their attention to the amendment to the 133d section of the postal code passed at the present session, and gives the following instructions:

Under this law as amended, packages of seeds, cuttings, roots, bulbs, and scions, not exceeding 4 pounds in weight, are to be mailed at a prepaid postage of one cent for each two ounces or fraction of an ounce.

1. Said packages must be put up so that the contents can be readily examined without destroying the wrappers.

2. Sealed bags made of material sufficiently transparent to show the contents clearly, without opening, may be used for such matter.

3. This as well as all other third class mail matter, must be fully prepaid by postage stamps affixed; otherwise, the same shall not be forwarded.

A DESERTER.—A sailor named Corcoran signed articles last week to ship on the Roswell Sprague, now lying at Astoria. He received an advance in money, and was to report for duty at a certain stated time. He failed to put in an appearance at the time designated, and after several days elapsed, Corcoran was arrested by officer Norton as a deserter and for a violation of the articles of shipping. On Friday last he was lodged in jail and kept until yesterday. As no complaint was made by the United States authorities, Chief Lappeus notified the Deputy Marshal that unless some steps were taken soon, he would liberate the sailor. Mr. Hoyt, U. S. Shipping Commissioner, on being informed of the facts, at once made complaint against Corcoran, and the prisoner was soon handed over into the custody of the Deputy Marshal. The examination of the case will probably come up to-day before Commissioner Wilcox.

WORK ON THE COLUMBIA.—Mr. John F. Kidder, who has personal superintendance of the work of improving the channel of the upper Columbia, arrived in the city yesterday from the Dalles. From him we learn that operations at Umatilla rapids have been vigorously prosecuted for the last two or three months, with reasonably good results. All the blasting at John Day rapids is completed, and a force of men are employed there at present in grappling the broken rock and in raking it away from the channel. Work at that point will soon be finished in accordance with the contract. In a few more days Mr. Kidder proposes to set a force of men to work at Devil's Bend. All the work on the upper Columbia is to be finished by the 1st of April.

A SAD CASE.—In response to an urgent call from a person who wrote to the managers of the "Home" over the signature of "Laborer," Mrs. Congle and Mrs. Ainsworth called yesterday at the place designated in the note some distance beyond the toll-gate on the Macadamized road. They found a woman with several children in destitute circumstances. The sufferers will be provided for with proper attention by the ladies connected with the above charitable institution.

QUITE SEVERE.—We learn that the condition of Albert Bateman, who was accidentally stabbed at Vancouver by a young man named Smith last Friday, is quite critical. It is the opinion of the attending physician that he will recover if skillfully treated, but the result is doubtful. The knife struck in the abdomen and pentrated a depth of several inches.

IN VICTORIA.—From a late Victoria paper we find the following item of dramatic news which will surprise some people here: W. J. Tennant, formerly of this city, is managing the Theater Royal, and among the company performing there are J. B. Robinson, Sam J. Dennis, W. H. Parker, and Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Tennant.

CABLE BROKEN.—The long cable (over five miles in length) reaching from Fidelgo to San Juan Islands, was severed on Saturday last. Since that time telegraphic communication between this city and Victoria is interrupted, and will continue so until the damage is repaired, and communication restored.

BELL SHIPPED.—A letter was received a few days ago from the East in which it was stated that the bell, donated some months ago by Mr. Benj. Stark, to be hung in the new Trinity church, was shipped for Portland on the 31st of Jan. It can soon be expected to arrive at its destination.

Window shades, cornices, curtains, picture nails, etc., also all kinds of upholstery work done at Paul Richter's.

BOARD OF TRUSTEES.

The Board of Trustees of East Portland met last evening at the usual hour. Mr. Van Cleave in the Chair.

Members present—Messrs. Garrigan, McMillen, Stephens and Van Cleve.

Absent—Hawthorne and Shattuck.

Minutes of last meeting read and adopted.

REPORTS.

The City Surveyor submitted a report in relation to the condition of stone monuments at the intersection of various streets. He had changed the bench marks, established the data of grade, and had also made alterations in the location of the monuments where the established grade rendered it necessary.

The Surveyor also submitted his report of the survey and fixing of the boundaries of Sixteenth street, as authorized by the Board of Trustees at its last meeting.

The reports were received, and on motion referred to the Committee of Streets and Public Property.

CLAIMS.

The following claims against the city were allowed, and, on motion, warrants ordered drawn in favor of their liquidation: J. W. Clayton, $3; W. S. Gorden [illegible]; O. B. Johnson, City Surveyor, and assistants, [illegible].

ORDINANCES.

An ordinance levying a tax of $4 on every male resident [illegible] between the ages of 21 and 50 years, [illegible] for repairs to streets. The [illegible] the Street Commissioner [illegible] tax and return the same [illegible] fees within ninety days from [illegible] ordinance. Read first, second [illegible] passed.

On motion, [illegible] adjourned.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Grand concert to-morrow night.

Yesterday was a very lovely day.

Dr. J. C. Hawthorne is reported convalescing.

The season for street cleaning will soon arrive.

No through mail from the south last evening.

The bark Semini still lies at anchor opposite the bone yard.

The "Home" made quite a raise on the late grand ball.

The Peiang is still at the wharf. Her destination is unknown.

The hull of the Annie Stewart will be examined in a few days.

A cutting northeaster made one's ears fairly tingle yesterday.

Quite a number of arrivals from Baker City by the boat last evening.

They didn't do much damage—that runaway team yesterday morning.

G. W. Fletcher, mail agent, has resumed his place on the West Side road.

The stone wall for the new gas building at the foot of E street is nearly completed.

An entertainment will be given at the Central School House on Friday evening.

The damage done to the masts and rigging of the bark Carribou has been repaired.

The Mary Bell towed up a water-logged scow from Klaskanine on Sunday, loaded with cedar lumber.

Our fashionable young ladies are wearing a wide ruching of tulle about the neck, a la Marie Antoinette.

A new boiler is being placed in the steamer Pelican, which formerly ran on the San Francisco-Victoria line.

Tight fitting sleeveless saques, of white cashmere heavily embroidered in black or colors, are the latest style of opera cloaks.

As the Lenten season rapidly approaches, social festivities rapidly increase the number of balls, parties and receptions announced.

Yesterday was a fine day for shopping, and the young ducks were out in considerable numbers; and so were the geese—on the street corners.

We have observed numerous items in the country papers the past week, which have been stolen bodily from the OREGONIAN and credit given to other papers.

A young fellow named Glanton was arrested last evening, charged with the larceny by bailee of $20. The case will come up in the Police Court this morning.

Ciel blue is the favorite color for evening dresses, and gros grain the material. Trimmed with lace or white fur, as we have seen it of late, the effect is fine.

Frank Arnold, of the Postoffice force, is under the weather again. His presence will be missed at the window until such time as his physician shall advise him to return to his duties with a guarrantee that his physical condition is in perfect order.

The strap game is being revived in San Francisco. We are enjoying a season of tranquillity and exemption in Portland from this very interesting game, at least a sufficient immunity to give unsophisticated youths from the interior a sense of security.

A correspondent of an Eastern journal speaks of a fashionable young lady as "wearing her laces down to her knees." Lord! Lord! we never knew before that a young lady had any knees. What next.

An editor of a moral exchange lamenting the death of "one of the best advertisors and subscribers we ever had," thus touchingly concludes his obituary eulogy: "He possessed the love, confidence and esteem of all who knew him, and some who did not, and save a slight poker debt to Mr. , did not owe a cent in the world."

A day or two since a man presented himself at the house of a prominent merchant with the following note to the lady of the house: "Please send by the bearer, immediately, a coat and pantaloons. I am mudd from head to foot. Billy." The note was read and the pretended messenger informed that the character of his errand was suspected, inasmuch as "Billy" generally wrote "mud" with one d. The lady attempted to detain him but he escaped. Housekeepers had better beware as he will probably spell more correctly next time.

PERSONAL.

General J. W. Sprague, general agent of the Northern Pacific Railroad Company at Kalama we learn, will leave on the next steamer for the East.

Geo. L. Story, Esq., we are gratified to announce is again able to resume business after his brief but severe illness.

Hon. Geo. S. Hinsdale, of Scottsburg, and A. Wheeler, Esq., Postmaster at Shedd's Station, were registered at the St. Charles last evening.

R. G. Head, Esq., editor and proprietor of the Benton Democrat, called last evening.

THE SEWAGE PROBLEM.

The original plan of sewage for the City of Portland has been received several months since, but has been for some reason quietly ignored and set aside, without the slightest hint being given to the public of what the general features of that plan are. Why is this? From the known reputation of Mr. Morris as a scientific civil engineer, it is reasonable to suppose that his report ought to, and doubtless does, contain very important statistics as well as valuable suggestions. It may not be the precise plan that we desire, or it may be more extensive, and consequently more expensive a system than we think we are able or willing to embark in at the present time, but this is no reason why the whole plan should be treated with so much contemptuous indifference.

The Bulletin speaks of it harshly, and disposes of the subject by sweeping denunciations. It would have been more satisfactory to the tax-payers of Portland, if the party who has access to that document had pointed out the defects of the proposed plan (if any defects do really exist), instead of the wholesale condemnation of it. It would at least have left the impression that the party had read the document. Unceremoniously throwing it aside with the declaration that "the people had paid too dear for the whistle" is not the kind of argument that convinces. The old adage that "some people measure other people's wheat in their own half-bushel" might apply here to the party who says, in objecting to the publication of the proposed plan, that "if printed no one would read it." Our friend of the Bulletin is simply mistaken in the matter. They will read it, if they can get the chance, and be profited by the reading, too.

In summing up this matter, we have on one side the plan, with all its details set forth after a minute and careful investigation of all the surrounding facts and circumstances attending the question of sewage, by a gentleman of unquestionable personal integrity, of extensive experience as a civil engineer, who stakes his scientific reputation on it, and who doubtless believes the plan is adapted to the wants of Portland. On the other hand, we have parties who condemn it, but give us no evidence of ever having examined it; the weight of evidence, so far, being all on the side of the proposed plan. Why not let the people have a chance to examine it for themselves?

The Temperance Union.

The following preamble and resolutions adopted by the Oregon State Temperance Union, are intended to be a statement of the motives actuating the members of the Union in their withdrawal from the Alliance:

Whereas, Some persons have attempted to impugn the motives of those delegates who withdrew from the late session of the Oregon State Temperance Alliance, and

Whereas, It has been deemed expedient by those who participated in that withdrawal that there should be a true, explicit and authoritative statement on their part of the reasons that impelled them to that act, and the undersigned having been duly appointed a committee to draft resolutions declaring those reasons, therefore,

Be it Resolved, 1st. That in withdrawing from the Oregon State Temperance Alliance, and asking that our names should be stricken from its roll, we are not actuated by any factious or petulant spirit of resentment against the action of the Alliance, nor by any feeling of spite or ill-will toward any member or members of that body, but solely by a sincere desire to promote the good of the temperance cause.

2d. That after a patient observation and experience of the workings of the Alliance we became satisfied that its organization was too loose and flimsy in texture to be effective, and that founded as it was upon the idea that its doors should be freely opened to all who applied, whether possessing a true temperance record, or representing any genuine temperance sentiment or not, its membership was too heterogeneous for it to be a safe leader of the temperance elements of the State.

3d. That believing as we did, and do, that the only true and safe union of the temperance people of Oregon must be on such a basis as shall exclude all organizations and elements whatsoever that are not thoroughly and practically enlisted in the cause of temperance, we felt, and still feel, that we could not conscientiously remain in an association founded and controlled upon an entirely different plan.

4th. That having thus lost faith in the Alliance as an effective agency in this great reform, we, by the consent of that body, withdrew for the purpose of forming an association that should really represent the temperance organization, temperance people, and temperance sentiment of the State, and should represent nothing else; and that in establishing the Oregon State Temperance Union, we believe we have fully accomplished that purpose.

5th. That though we are no longer members of the Alliance, we have no hostility toward it, but honestly wish it well; and that, though we have little faith in it as a present or future agency in the temperance reform, we shall nevertheless heartily applaud and welcome any good result to this great cause that may flow from it.

6th. That with this plain and honest statement of our cause, we are content to submit our action to the candid judgment of the true temperance men and women of Oregon.

To fill your larder with the best, and at the same time economize in the distribution of cash for the same, is something that few people understand how to manage. If you wish to attain these desired objects, the proper way to do will be to call on Charley Martin, a man who can "dish up" anything in his particular line to the satisfaction of the oldest inhabitant. You can bet every time on that. He is in the Grocery business, of course that is understood, at the northeast corner of Yamhill and First streets.

A GREAT BUSINESS SUCCESS.—Messrs. Geo. P. Rowell & Co., have taken possession of their new business offices, immediately above the counting house of the New York Times. Messrs Rowell & Co. do one of the largest advertising trades in the world. Their extensive premises embrace nearly all of the entire second floor of Nos. 40 and 41 Park Row, where thousands of newspapers are received daily, examined and put away, and hundreds of letters read and replied to. The place is a business beehive in fact, and admirably illustrates one of the most remarkable institutions of our time—the Advertising Agency. The new offices are well arranged in counting house fashion, and are among the most pleasantly and advantageously situated in the city. We congratulate our enterprising neighbors upon the success which persistent industry, a keen eye to business, and uprightness in the doing of it have obtained for them.—Evening Mail, New York City.

TAKE UP YOUR LINE of march for Crittenton's, No. 7 6th Avenue, all ye coughers and wheezers, and snuffers. It is the depot for Hale's Honey of Horehound and Tar, which for all ailments of the lungs and their air passages is an immediate and sovereign remedy. All druggists keep it.

Pike's Toothache Drops cure in 1 minute.

PRICES MARKED DOWN.—Polite and attentive clerks will be happy to wait upon customers who are desirous of procuring a No. 1 article of clothing at the most reasonable prices. You will find all these ideas carried out to the letter at the well known house of J. Kohn & Co, 91 Front street. Their stock is complete in every respect.

All the leading newspapers published in the United States may be found on file at the Advertising Agency of Geo. P. Rowell & Co., of No. 41 Park Row, New York.

BETTER LATE THAN NEVER.—If your teeth are going, and you have not yet tried the "SOZODONT," as a preservative, try it now. Abandon all other Dentrifices and give it a fair chance; it is guaranteed to be as harmless as water. 14

The Judgment of the Public.

Doctors disagree. Each school of medicine has its own theories, and as these theories differ widely, it is clear that few if any of them can be right. But if medical men cannot agree upon any theory or system of practice, the public mind find no difficulty in agreeing as to notorious matters of fact. For instance, they have observed for many years that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters uniformly cure dyspepsia, constipation, rheumatism, billiousness, nervous debility, and many other diseases which the prescriptions of the pharmacopoeia do not and cannot cure; and they know, therefore, that there can be no mistake about it. On this point they are firm and positive. They take their stand on incontrovertible facts, and they state to one another verbally, and sometimes by letter, what they know about relieving and preventing sickness with the standard vegetable tonic and alterative of America.

Here, then, the invalid has a guarantee of value that can be relied upon, viz: the sober judgment of the public. After twenty years of observation and reflection, the American people pronounce Hostetter's Bitters the best invigorating and regulating medicine at their command, and give evidence of the faith that is in them by purchasing more of it than of any other advertised medicine manufactured on this continent. A large number of physicians, too, however much they may differ on other points in therapeutics, admit the extraordinary merits of the Bitters as a tonic and alterative, and recommend it as a preventive of malarious diseases, and as a remedy in intermittent and remittent fevers.

PLANTATION BITTERS!
S. T.--1860--X.
This wonderful vegetable restorative is the sheet-anchor of the feeble and debilitated. As a tonic and cordial for the aged and languid it has no equal among stomachics. As a remedy for the nervous weakness to which women are especially subject, it is superseding every other stimulant. In all climates, tropical, temperate or frigid, it acts as a specific in every species of disorder which undermines the bodily strength and breaks down the animal spirits.

A Railroad Watch.
TRAVELER'S BY RAILROAD FREQUENTLY FIND their Watches completely demoralized by the continuous jar of the train. To overcome this difficulty has long been a problem with watchmakers, and it is now successfully accomplished in the new grade made by the
AMERICAN WATCH COMPANY OF WALTHAM.
This Watch is made in the most substantial manner, on the most approved principles, and combines all the recent improvements. It has a new micrometrical regulator, by which the slightest variation can be easily corrected. It is carefully adjusted, and may be entirely relied on to run accurately, wear well, and
ENDURE THE HARDEST USAGE,
without any derangement whatever. We confidently recommend this Watch to the trade and the public, as the Best Watch for the Price in the Market.
The Superintendent of one of the Nevada Mines writes that "YOUR (WALTHAM) WATCHES ARE THE ONLY ONES THAT WILL STAND THE SHOCK OF BLASTING. WE HAVE IN THIS MINE BOTH FOREIGN AND DIFFERENT KINDS OF AMERICAN WATCHES, BUT THE WALTHAM WATCH IS THE ONLY ONE ADAPTED TO OUR PURPOSE."

What to do with Single Women

Miss Emily Faithfull expresses in the Fireside Companion the following opinion of the disadvantages of women who seek to earn a livelihood here and in England:

If any one could give a satisfactory answer to this question, he would deserve well of the whole human race. In England—or, I should say, Great Britain—we have 916,162 women who can never, by any possibility, find husbands at home. These women must, therefore, become self-supporting. I am not as well acquainted with the disproportion of sexes in the United States; but although there is an excess of men, I have already learned from what I have seen in America that there is the same necessity for enabling women to earn money here as in the old country; though to some extent it seems to me that they have already a better chance of doing so. For instance, while we count our female doctors on the fingers of one hand, I find several with established reputations in every one of your principal cities; and while a few female writers in England are occasional contributors to our daily and weekly papers, I find them in New York recognized members of the staff. Gradually, however, even in conservative England, the old assertions are being abandoned—that woman's claim to fair chances of livelihood is a morbid and an exaggerated one, and that young men struggle with equal difficulties. People are beginning, though slowly, to acknowledge that efforts made to enable women to take a larger share in the industrial pursuits of their male relatives are not made with a view of removing them from their "proper sphere" and natural duties, but in order to save them from positions into which they are now actually thrown, to the destruction of their highest instincts and their physical health and development. There has never been any dislike in England to the employment of women in the lowest branches of industrial callings, the objection is their introduction into places of responsibility and trust. Until my friend the Earl of Shaftesbury brought the matter before Parliament [illegible] were allowed to work in mines in Staffordshire. They prepare until this very hour the [illegible] which is to be converted into porcelain. Only three months before I left England I spent a day in our potteries, and there [illegible] women and girls turning heavy wheels and lifting enormous weights, their physical strength was being called upon ad libitum, but they were carefully excluded from the lighter part of the business; they were freely used as beasts of burden, but no encouragement was given them to undertake any skilled labor. And yet, by the way, we are told that women cannot serve in haberdashers' shops, because they are too weak to lift the bales of goods. In Liverpool and Dublin women earn six[illegible] a day by carrying immense loads of [illegible] nearly 50,000 hawk fish, fruit and hard[illegible] through the streets of London, their earnings varying from 50 cents to $1 a [illegible].

[illegible] throughout the country weed, dig [illegible] potatoes, pick [illegible] out of the soil, [illegible] the manure, reap [illegible] harvest, and [illegible] in all weathers and seasons. [illegible] are to be found in the lowest and worst paid departments of our chemical works, paper mills, glue works and nail factories, as well as in our brick fields and nursery gardens. In hundreds of factories where women are employed there is work going on of a less unsuitable kind than what they are actually doing. I was once going over a factory of this description, and leaving a number of women employed in work of the coarsest sort, I emerged into a clearer, quieter atmosphere, to find men engaged in what seemed to me quite a feminine branch of the manufacture.

"Is not this work women could do?" I asked.

"Certainly," replied the foreman; "but we apprentice to that."

"And would you apprentice girls?" I inquired.

"We have never done so," was the reply.

This is the root of the whole mischief. No skilled work can be done without apprenticeship. It is not customary to apprentice girls, and so it is taken for granted that they cannot do skilled work. An English factory woman labors under adverse influences. The men of her own rank are jealous of her competition with them. The overseers and higher workmen are jealous lest, in any department, she [illegible] to their place, and it is the employer's [illegible] to keep down her wages. But, I still [illegible] these difficulties arise from want of [illegible] rather [illegible] want of heart. I cannot [illegible] myself that men would deliberately oppress women [illegible] any selfish fears; at the same time I must admit [illegible] the opposition of the ribbon weavers at Coventry to the admission of women into the higher branches of their labor, and the threatened [illegible] of the China painters at Worcester, if [illegible] were allowed the use of the maul stick, [illegible] enables them to do the best work, and consequently, get the best pay. I wish, emphatically, to point out the necessity for definite training. Women are already extensively employed in various industrial pursuits; they ought to have the advantage of special training, and the most lucrative branches of their occupation ought to be opened to them. They should not find themselves shut out from any post merely "because they are women." Neither are we justified in drawing upon their physical strength and ignoring their mental capacity—regarding them, in short, as more mechanics, hands without [illegible]. I cannot [illegible] at length on one very [illegible] the restriction of [illegible] branches of industry, [illegible] the adding, that I regard it as [illegible] realm. [illegible] it deprives the work[illegible] is found of value to the [illegible] cultivated man in the [illegible] the younger women [illegible] supervision of their own sex. [illegible] women in positions of trust [illegible] would not only be en[illegible] develop that business-like ca[illegible] those qualities of mind, without [illegible] they must remain individually and [illegible] in the lowest scale, but they would feel themselves far more protected than they can be at present, while they have no other safeguard than their own prudence. When [illegible] urge that the introduction of women [illegible] trades and professions will diminish [illegible] it is necessary to remind them [illegible] progress of science and new forms of [illegible] have given into their hands the for[illegible] of women. In the ranks of the English aristocracy some provision is made for the female members of the family, but when you quit this narrow confines of this class you find hundreds of women compelled, like men, to seek their own bread. "And it is a terrible incident of social existence," says the London Times, "that the resources open to women for gaining a livelihood are so few. At present, the language practically held by modern society to destitute women is 'Marry, stitch, die, or do worse.'" I propose, in a second article, to refer to the special directions in which women's industry can be well employed.

Do Fish Hear?—Seth Green, who has had so much experience in raising fish, was recently reported to have denied that fish could hear. Several parties took him up and cited authorities to prove the contrary. Green, in a card in the Rochester Democrat, defends his theory by the following anecdote.

I will tell you how I got my opinion that fish cannot hear. I had a pond at Caledonia about one hundred feet long, fifteen feet wide and four feet deep, with a gentle current running through—just enough to keep the fish moving their tails to retain their places. I had about 2,000 large trout in it, weighing from one to three and one-half pounds. These fish would lie for hours perfectly still, unless disturbed, except the gentle motion of their fins to keep them in place. I stationed my David Day about half way up the pond, had him lie flat, face down, and with his arms extended into the water. He held a stone weighing six pounds in each hand. I then took my place on the top of the house—the most convenient place to see and lying down, waited until the fish took their accustomed places. After that I called to David to knock the stones together. David knocked and knocked, and not a fish made a move, except the slightest movement continually kept up. There are but very few of your male readers who do not know what a sharp sound has gone through their heads while under water, when some mischievous boy knocked two stones together under water. After the above experiment, I took my gun and fired it repeatedly as near the pond as I could and not have the trout see the flash. Not one stirred. Then I took a long plank, and standing back away from the pond, slapped it down upon the ground, and the fish would make a quick start. That was because of the jar, and that is the only way fish hear.

Yours,
SETH GREEN.

All Kicked Out.—Some years ago a young man presented himself to the then United States Secretary Corwin for a clerkship. Thrice was he refused, and still he made the fourth effort. His perseverance and spirit of determination awakened a friendly interest in his welfare, and the Secretary advised him, in the strongest possible terms, to abandon his purpose, and go to the West, if he could do no better outside the Department. "My young friend," said he, "go to the Northwest; buy 160 acres of Government land, or if you have not the money to purchase, squat on it: get you an ax and a mattock; put up a log cabin or a habitation, and raise a little corn and potatoes, keep your conscience clear, and live like a free man; your own master, with no one to give you orders, and without dependence upon anybody. Do that, and you will become honored, respected, influential and rich. But accept a clerkship here, and you sink at once all independence—your energies become relaxed, and you are unfitted, in a few years, for any other and more independent position. I may give you a place to-day, and I can kick you out again to-morrow, and there's another man over at the White House who can kick me out, and the people by-and-by can kick him out; and so go. But if you own an acre of land, it is your kingdom, and your cabin is your castle—you are a sovereign, and you will feel it in every throbbing of your pulse, and every day of your life would assure me of your thanks for having thus advised you."

Thiers' Resignation Game.—It must be delightfully refreshing to Frenchmen to have President Thiers at the head of the Government. Whenever the Assembly becomes unruly or the people clamorous he threatens to resign. Whoever made such a threat before in France? Consuls, Kings, Presidents and Emperors heretofore have indulged in no threats of that kind. Their tenacity for remaining at the head of the Government has been most marked. They resented any suggestions as to resigning as they would an attempt to assassinate. But President Thiers has changed all. He controls by threatening to resign. The very novelty of the spectacle astonishes and charms the Frenchman. The President may be the man in the bucket and and the people the windlass turners above, but they don't want him to cut the rope. His threat may sound childish and ridiculous to us, but it is evidently a strong recommendation with the Frenchman. All of which means that President Thiers understands Frenchmen better than we do.—Locke's National Monthly.

The following are two of the best from a lately published collection of curious advertisements:—"One pound reward. Lost, a cameo brooch representing Venus and Adonis on the Drumcondra road, about 10 o'clock on Tuesday evening." Advertisement of a wine merchant: "The advertiser, having made an advantageous purchase, offers for sale, on very low terms, about six dozen of prime port wine, lately the property of a gentleman 40 years of age, full in body, and with a high bouquet."

Jim Nye, like other blessings, brightens as he takes his flight. On hearing of Mr. Patterson's purpose to go before the Poland committee again and "explain" his letter of January 4th, 1873, to Oakes Ames, Jim strolled over to the New Hampshire Senator's desk, slapped him on the back, and uttered winged words as follows: "Patterson, if I 'wanted to take out a pattern for a d—d fool,' I'd send you to the patent office as my model.'"

Gold in New York to-day, 114⅝

Portland Legal Tender rates, 87½c buying; 88¼@c, 89½c selling.

Gold bars are quotable at 800 fine

Perhaps no event occurring at the present time will have more influence upon the general business interests of our country than the arrangement recently effected by the Secretary of the United States Treasury with several of the most eminent banking houses of Europe and America for the sale of $300,000,000 U. S. five per cent. bonds redeemable after the 1st of May, 1881, principal, and interest payable in gold coin of the present standard. The New York Tribune commends the arrangement, and the eminent position of the foreign members of the Syndicate with Messrs. Rothschild at their head, and of the American firms, comprising such houses as Morton, Bliss & Co., and Jay Cooke & Co., renders the speedy taking up of the loan a certainty. Foreign investors will be eager purchasers for a variety of reasons, among which may be stated: First, the fact that the security will be properly regarded as one of the safest in the world, ours being the only great nation that has paid off any considerable proportion of its debt within the last five years at least, and the only one that is believed to be able to pay it all within twenty five years without embarrassment or serious inconvenience to its taxpayers. Second, the rate of interest is nearly double that received for a large part of all the securely invested capital in Europe. Third, and not least, because that Messrs. Rothschild have never failed to negotiate any security, to the introduction of which they were willing to lend the name of their great house.

In our own country the loan will be popular because it is free from taxation, and five per cent. net interest is a higher rate than is yielded by any other national or stock loan now offered in our market, the taxes on other securities amounting in some of our cities to over 3 per cent. It is true that the money of our countrymen is in paper, and that the gold to pay for the new bonds must be bought at a premium; but inasmuch as the gold received for interest will command a premium also, there is no material loss on that score. Should the premium upon gold advance after the bonds are bought and paid for, the effect will be simply to increase the currency value of the gold interest. On the other hand, should gold decline before the investments are paid by the subscribers, their bonds will cost them so much the less in currency. In any event it is believed the bonds will command a premium as soon as the issue shall be absorbed, the interest being at least one per cent. higher than any first-class Government ought to pay, which may be presumed to be the reason why our Government does not issue a long five per cent. bond instead of a comparatively short one. The general impression among financial men and investors of intelligence is that so many bonds will be applied for in excess of the number offered, that they will have to be distributed pro rata among the subscribers, and to this impression is attributed the buoyancy to-day of almost every stock dealt in at the Board and the good feeling throughout all branches of business. It will stand importers in hand to make few contracts for goods to be paid for within six months, or until our gold market shall have felt the full effect of what may with propriety be called the changed situation. This will reduce the stocks of foreign goods in our warehouses to the lowest point consistent with a continuance of business by our merchants, and prepare them for the purchase of new supplies, it is hoped and believed, at lower prices than those paid during the past year.

The Wool Product.

The stock of wool in New York on the 1st inst. was 14,180,500 pounds, against 11,171,750 pounds in stock January 1, 1872, and 7,475,750 pounds January 1, 1871. The New York stock is about half domestic and half foreign wool. The stock of wool in the principal markets on the 1st inst. compares with that at the same time last year as follows:

	Domestic 1873 Pounds.	Domestic 1872 Pounds.	Foreign 1873 Bales.	Foreign 1872. Bales.
New York	7,175,000	6,436,000	18,134	9,451
Phila	5,043,000	2,703,000	5,830	600
Boston	3,603,000	6,033,000	20,043	5,901

The total quantity of wool produced last year in the United States was 160,000,000 pounds, an increase of 14,000,000 pounds on the production of the preceding year. The total quantity of wool imported at the four ports New York, Boston, Philadelphia, and Baltimore, last year was very great, being 98,350,561 pounds, about 20,000,000 pounds more than were imported in 1871, and nearly three and a half times the quantity received in 1870.

The magnitude of the wool industry of the United States is shown by the following statement from the last census taken in June, 1870. There were then 3,464 manufacturing establishments, and the capital invested therein was $132,382,319. They employed 119,859 work-people, and paid $40,357,235 during the year for labor. They consumed 173,389,060 pounds of domestic wool, 46,581,105 pounds of foreign; 32,473,680 pounds of cotton, and 19,574,261 pounds of shoddy.

Shipping Items.

The Panong is still lying at the wharf.

The Northumbria is receiving wheat and discharging ballast at McCracken's wharf.

The bark Carriboo and Victoria Cross are both receiving wheat at Flanders' wharf. These vessels will probably go to Astoria to-morrow.

Home Produce Market.

WHEAT—The market exhibits no important change, other than a decrease in transactions and receipts. There is now very nearly enough here to load the vessels in port, and future arrivals are so uncertain that exporters seem to be indifferent about venturing on the market. Prices are nominally given to-day at $1 60 per cental. The dispatches indicate weakening rates in San Francisco.

FLOUR—The receipts continue to average fair, while the demand, except for the local trade, is dull. We quote superfine at $4 per bbl, country brands at $4 50a5, and standard extra, $5 50.

OATS—The San Francisco market by to-day's advices seems duller, but ours experiences no important change. We note one or two small transactions at 60 cents per bushel, sacks included.

Ordinance No. 1288.

AN ORDINANCE RELATING TO WHARVES AND other improvements upon the Willamette River.

The City of Portland does ordain as follows:

Section 1. No person or persons shall drive piles, build a wharf, or wharves, or make any improvements, or deposit any ballast or earth, or make any other obstruction upon that portion of the city front lying easterly and beyond low water mark in the Willamette river, without first obtaining permission of the Common Council.

Section 2. Applications for permission to build a wharf or make other improvements beyond the line of low water mark, shall be signed by the owner or owners of the land fronting the same, and shall specify with convenient certainty the mode and extent of such improvements, the materials to be used, distance beyond the line of low water mark intended to be occupied, the depth of water, and such other information as will enable the Common Council to determine whether the same will unnecessarily interfere with the navigation of the Willamette river, the use of the streets connecting therewith, and also its security against fire.

Section 3. Any person or persons violating any of the provisions of this Ordinance shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof before the Police Court, shall be punished by a fine of not less than ten (10) nor more than one hundred (100) dollars; and each day of maintaining or continuing such violation shall be deemed a new offense and punished accordingly.

Section 4. The Superintendent of Streets shall cause all piles or other material that may be driven or placed upon that part of the city front herein described, contrary to the provisions of this Ordinance, to be removed forthwith.

Passed the Common Council February 22, 1873.

W. S. CALDWELL,
Auditor and Clerk.

Approved Feb. 14, 1873.

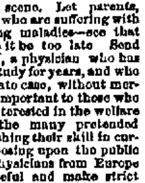
DR. C. G. GLASS.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.
NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES
Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,



623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

DR. GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned from visiting the principal Hospitals of Europe, and has resumed practice at his Dispensary, 623 Kearny street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco, where his old patients and those requiring his services may find him.

The Doctor has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies, and has returned with increased facilities for the alleviation of human suffering.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of those horrible, life destroying maladies—see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to DR. GIBBON, a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate case, without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the faces, furred tongue, feted breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN.

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions. By inclosing Ten Dollars coin, in registered letter through the Postoffice or through Wells, Fargo & Co., a package of medicine will be forwarded to any part of the Union.

All communications strictly confidential.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who, with bogus sworn-to certificates, dupe the unwary. Some of the self-styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are tradesmen and became too lazy too work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. The only way to avoid imposition is to make inquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets; for as advertising physicians in eight cases out of ten are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended patients' letters, etc. Dr. Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his offices of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 623 Kearny street, corner Commercial, San Francisco, Post Office Box 1,957.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 1,957 ON THE LETTER.

Consultations FREE.

Correspondents will please inform DR. GIBBON that they read his advertisement in the Daily Oregonian.

We are Brethren A'.

A happy bit hame this auld world would be,
If men when they're here could make shift to agree,
And ilk said to his neighbor, in cottage and ha',
"Come, gie me your hand—we are brethren a'."

I ken na why ane with anither should fight,
When to 'gree would make a' body cosie and right;
When man meets with man, 'tis the best way ava',
To say—"Give me your hand—we are brethren a'."

My coat is a coarse ane, an' yours may be fine,
And I maun drink water while you may drink wine—
But we baith ha'e a leal heart, unspotted to shaw,
Sae gie me your han'—we are brethren a'.

The knave ye would scorn, the unfaithful deride,
Ye would stand like a rock, with the truth your side,
Sae would I—and naught else would I value a straw—
Come, gie me your hand—we are brethren a'.

Ye would scorn to do fausety by woman or man,
I haud by the right, aye, as well as I can,
We are ane in our joys, our affections, and a'—
Come, gie me your hand—we are brethren a'.

Your mother has loved you, as mithers can lo'e,
And mine has d ne for me what mothers can do.
We are ane in our joys, our affections and a',
Sae give me your hand—we are brethren a'.

We love the same simmer day, sunny and fair;
Hame! oh, how we love it, and all that are there!
Frae the pure air of Heaven, the same life we draw,
Come, gie me your hand—we are brethren a.

Frail, creeping Auld Age will soon come o'er us baith,
And creepin' alang at his back will be Death—
Syne into the same mither yard we will fa',
Come, gie me your hand—WE ARE BRETHREN A'.

What to do with Single Women

Miss Emily Faithfull expresses in the Fireside Companion the following opinion of the disadvantages of women who seek to earn a livelihood here and in England.

If any one could give a satisfactory answer to this question, he would deserve well of the whole human race. In England—or, I should say, Great Britain—we have 916,162 women who can never, by any possibility, find husbands at home. These women must, therefore, become self-supporting. I am not as well acquainted with the disproportion of sexes in the United States; but although there is an excess of men, I have already learned from what I have seen in America that there is the same necessity for enabling women to earn money here as in the old country; though to some extent it seems to me that they have already a better chance of doing so. For instance, while we count our female doctors on the fingers of one hand, I find several with established reputations in every one of your principal cities; and while a few female writers in England are occasional contributors to our daily and weekly papers, I find them in New York recognized members of the staff. Gradually, however, even in conservative England, the old assertions are being abandoned, that woman's claim to fair chances of livelihood is a morbid and an exaggerated one, and that young men struggle with equal difficulties. People are beginning, though slowly, to acknowledge that efforts made to enable women to take a larger share in the industrial pursuits of their male relatives are not made with a view of removing them from their "proper sphere" and natural duties, but in order to save them from positions into which they are now actually thrown, to the destruction of their highest instincts and their physical health and development. There has [illegible] any dislike in England to the employment of women in the lowest branches of [illegible] callings, the objection is their introduction into places of responsibility and [illegible]. Until my friend the Earl of Shaftesbury brought the matter before Parliament [illegible] were allowed to work in mines in Staffordshire; they prepare until this very hour the clay which is to be converted into porcelain. Only three months before I left England I spent a day in our potteries, and there [illegible] women and girls turning heavy wheels and lifting enormous weights, their physical strength was being called upon ad libitum, but they were carefully excluded from the lighter part of the business; they were freely used as beasts of burden, but no encouragement was given them to undertake any skilled labor. And yet, by the way, we are told that women cannot serve in haberdashers' shops, because they are too weak to lift the bales of goods. In Liverpool and Dublin women earn sixpence a day by carrying immense loads of [illegible] nearly 50,000 hawk fish, fruit and hardware through the streets of London, their earnings varying from 50 cents to $1 a day.

[illegible] throughout the country weed, dig and hoe potatoes, pick stones out of the soil, [illegible] of the manure, reap during harvest, and [illegible] the wagons in all weathers and seasons. Women are to be found in the lowest and worst paid departments of our chemical works, paper mills, glue works and nail factories, as well as in our brick fields and nursery gardens. In hundreds of factories where women are employed there is work going on of a less unsuitable kind than what they are actually doing. I was once going over a factory of this description, and leaving a number of women employed in work of the coarsest sort, I emerged into a clearer, quieter atmosphere, to find men engaged in what seemed to me quite a feminine branch of the manufacture.

"Is not this work women could do?" I asked.

"Certainly," replied the foreman; "but we apprentice to that."

"And would you apprentice girls?" I inquired.

"We have never done so," was the reply.

This is the root of the whole mischief. No skilled work can be done without apprenticeship. It is not customary to apprentice girls, and so it is taken for granted that they cannot do skilled work. An English factory woman labors under adverse influences. The men of her own rank are jealous of her competition with them. The overseers and higher workmen are jealous lest, in any department, she rise to their place, and it is the employer's interest to keep down her wages. But, I still [illegible] these difficulties arise from want of thought rather than want of heart. I cannot [illegible] men would deliberately [illegible] selfish fears; at [illegible] mined [illegible] of the [illegible] weavers at Coventry [illegible] admission of women into the higher [illegible] of their labor, and the threatened [illegible] the China painters at Worcester, if [illegible] were allowed the use of the maul stick, [illegible] enables them to do the best work, and consequently, get the best pay. I wish, emphatically, to point out the necessity for definite training. Women are already extensively employed in various industrial pursuits; they ought to have the advantage of special training, and the most lucrative branches of their occupation ought to be opened to them. They should not find themselves shut out from any post merely "because they are women," neither are we justified in drawing upon their physical strength and ignoring their mental capacity—regarding them, in short, as mere mechanics, hands without [illegible] at length on one very [illegible] the restriction of [illegible] branches of industry, [illegible] that I regard it as [illegible] realm. [illegible] it deprives the work- [illegible] fund of value to the [illegible] inquiries of cultivated men in the [illegible] the torments the younger women [illegible] supervision of their own sex. [illegible] women in positions of trust [illegible] would not only be on- [illegible] develop that business-like capacity [illegible] those qualities of mind, without [illegible] must remain individually and [illegible] in the lowest scale, but they would feel themselves far more protected than they can do at present, while they have no other safeguard than their own prudence. When [illegible] that the introduction of women [illegible] trades and professions will diminish [illegible] it is necessary to remind them [illegible] progress of science and new forms of [illegible] have given into their hands the for- [illegible] of women. The banking, [illegible] and weaving have been [illegible] from the homes to the manufactory [illegible] spins, weaves and grinds, [illegible] the work in connection [illegible] which [illegible] occupied all the [illegible] enabled them with- [illegible] to contribute [illegible] When every [illegible] to the support of [illegible] garment was spun and [illegible] women in duties consumed the time of all the [illegible] of machine in the household, but in the [illegible] women require for hand labor the [illegible] has [illegible] outside remunerative [illegible] and on larger and larger, and [illegible] we ward at an unparalleled [illegible] the North and arrangements have [illegible] being run corresponding degree. [illegible] that, when this woman formerly [illegible] we did at report of the household, and [illegible]

sumed that every woman has been sought to be maintained in idleness by her father, husband or brother. In the ranks of the English aristocracy some provision is made for the female members of the family, but when you quit the narrow confines of this class you find hundreds of women compelled, like men, to seek their own bread. "And it is a terrible incident of social existence," says the London Times, "that the resources open to women for gaining a livelihood are so few. At present, the language practically held by modern society to destitute women is "Marry, stitch, die, or do worse." I propose, in a second article, to refer to the special directions in which women's industry can be well employed.

DO FISH HEAR?—Seth Green, who has had so much experience in raising fish, was recently reported to have denied that fish could hear. Several parties took him up and cited authorities to prove the contrary. Green, in a card in the Rochester Democrat, defends his theory by the following anecdote:

I will tell you how I got my opinion that fish cannot hear. I had a pond at Caledonia about one hundred feet long, fifteen feet wide and four feet deep, with a gentle current running through—just enough to keep the fish moving their tails to retain their places. I had about 2,000 large trout in it, weighing from one to three and one-half pounds. These fish would lie for hours perfectly still, unless disturbed, except the gentle motion of their fins to keep them in place. I stationed my David Day about half way up the pond; had him lie flat, face down, and with his arms extended into the water. He held a stone weighing six pounds in each hand. I then took my place on the top of the house—the most convenient place to see—and lying down, waited until the fish took their accustomed places. After that I called to David to knock the stones together. David knocked and knocked, and not a fish made a move, except the slightest movement continually kept up. There are but very few of your male readers who do not know what a sharp sound has gone through their heads while under water, when some mischievous boy knocked two stones together under water. After the above experiment, I took my gun and fired it repeatedly as near the pond as I could and not have the trout see the flash. Not one stirred. Then I took a long plank, and standing back away from the pond, slapped it down upon the ground, and the fish would make a quick start. That was because of the jar, and that is the only way fish hear.

Yours,
SETH GREEN.

ALL KICKED OUT.—Some years ago a young man presented himself to the then United States Secretary Corwin for a clerkship. Thrice was he refused, and still he made the fourth effort. His perseverance and spirit of determination awakened a friendly interest in his welfare, and the Secretary advised him, in the strongest possible terms, to abandon his purpose, and go to the West, if he could do no better outside the Department. "My young friend," said he, "go to the Northwest; buy 160 acres of Government land, or if you have not the money to purchase, squat on it; get you an ax and a mattock; put up a log cabin or a habitation, and raise a little corn and potatoes; keep your conscience clear, and live like a free man; your own master, with no one to give you orders, and without dependence upon anybody. Do that, and you will become honored, respected, influential and rich. But accept a clerkship here, and you sink at once all independence—your energies become relaxed, and you are unfitted, in a few years, for any other and more independent position. I may give you a place to-day, and I can kick you out again to-morrow, and there's another man over at the White House who can kick me out, and the people by-and-by can kick him out; and so go. But if you own an acre of land, it is your kingdom, and your cabin is your castle—you are a sovereign, and you will feel it in every throbbing of your pulse, and every day of your life would assure me of your thanks for having thus advised you."

THIERS' RESIGNATION GAME.—It must be delightfully refreshing to Frenchmen to have President Thiers at the head of the Government. Whenever the Assembly becomes unruly or the people clamorous he threatens to resign. Whoever made such a threat before in France? Generals, Kings, Presidents and Emperors heretofore have indulged in no threats of that kind. Their tenacity for retaining at the head of the Government has been most marked. They resented any suggestions as to resigning as they would an attempt to assassinate. But President Thiers has changed all. He controls by threatening to resign. The very novelty of the spectacle astonishes and charms the Frenchman. The President may be the man in the bucket and the people the windlass turners above, but they don't want him to cut the rope. His threat may sound childish and ridiculous to us, but it is evidently a strong recommendation with the Frenchman. All of which means that President Thiers understands Frenchmen better than we do.—Locke's National Monthly.

The following are two of the best from a lately published collection of curious advertisements:—"One pound reward. Lost, a cameo brooch representing Venus and Adonis on the Drumcondra road, about 10 o'clock on Tuesday evening." Advertisement of a wine merchant: "The advertiser, having made an advantageous purchase, offers for sale, on very low terms, about six dozen of prime port wine, lately the property of a gentleman 40 years of age, full in body, and with a high bouquet."

Jim Nye, like other blessings, brightens as he takes his flight. On hearing of Mr. Patterson's purpose to go before the Poland committee again and "explain" his letter of January 4th, 1873, to Oakes Ames, Jim strolled over to the New Hampshire Senator's desk, slapped him on the back, and uttered winged words as follows: "Patterson, if I 'wanted to take out a pattern for a d—d fool,' I'd send you to the patent office as my model."

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

Financial.

MONDAY EVENING, Feb. 24, 1873.

Gold in New York to-day, 114⅜.

Portland Legal Tender rates, 81½c buying; 83¼@c, 83½c selling.

Gold bars are quotable at 800 fine.

Perhaps no event occurring at the present time will have more influence upon the general business interests of our country than the arrangement recently effected by the Secretary of the United States Treasury with several of the most eminent banking houses of Europe and America for the sale of $300,000,000 U. S. five per cent. bonds redeemable after the 1st of May, 1881, principal, and interest payable in gold coin of the present standard. The New York Tribune commends the arrangement, and the eminent position of the foreign members of the Syndicate with Messrs. Rothschild at their head, and of the American firms, comprising such houses as Morton, Bliss & Co. and Jay Cooke & Co., renders the speedy taking up of the loan a certainty. Foreign investors will be eager purchasers for a variety of reasons, among which may be stated: First, the fact that the security will be properly regarded as one of the safest in the world, ours being the only great nation that has paid off any considerable proportion of its debt within the last five years at least, and the only one that is believed to be able to pay it all within twenty five years without embarrassment or serious inconvenience to its taxpayers. Second, the rate of interest is nearly double that received for a large part of all the securely invested capital in Europe. Third, and not least because that Messrs. Rothschild have never failed to negotiate any security, to the introduction of which they were willing to lend the name of their great house.

In our own country the loan will be popular because it is free from taxation, and five per cent. net interest is a higher rate than is yielded by any other national or stock loan now offered in our market, the taxes on other securities amounting in some of our cities to over 3 per cent. It is true that the money of our countrymen is in paper, and that the gold to pay for the new bonds must be bought at a premium, but inasmuch as the gold received for interest will command a premium also, there is no material loss on that score. Should the premium upon gold advance after the bonds are bought and paid for, the effect will be simply to increase the currency value of the gold interest. On the other hand, should gold decline before the investments are paid by the subscribers, their bonds will cost them so much the less in currency. In any event it is believed the bonds will command a premium as soon as the issue shall be absorbed, the interest being at least one per cent. higher than any first-class Government ought to pay, which may be presumed to be the reason why our Government does not issue a long five per cent. bond instead of a comparatively short one. The general impression among financial men and investors of intelligence is that so many bonds will be applied for in excess of the number offered, that they will have to be distributed pro rata among the subscribers, and to this impression is attributed the buoyancy to-day of almost every stock dealt in at the Board and the good feeling throughout all branches of business. It will stand importers in hand to make few contracts for goods to be paid for within six months, or until our gold market shall have felt the full effect of what may with propriety be called the changed situation. This will reduce the stocks of foreign goods in our warehouses to the lowest point consistent with a continuance of business by our merchants, and prepare them for the purchase of new supplies, it is hoped and believed, at lower prices than those paid during the past year.

The Wool Product.

The stock of wool in New York on the 1st inst. was 14,980,600 pounds, against 11,171,750 pounds in stock January 1 1872, and 7,476,700 pounds January 1, 1871. The New York stock is about half domestic and half foreign wool. The stock of wool in the principal markets on the 1st inst. compares with that at the same time last year as follows:

	Domestic. 1873 Pounds.	Domestic. 1872 Pounds.	Foreign 1873 Bales.	Foreign 1872. Bales.
New York..	7,175,000	6,435,000	18,134	9,451
Phila	6,043,000	2,705,000	5,500	000
Boston	3,603,000	6,935,000	20,023	5,091

The total quantity of wool produced last year in the United States was 165,000,000 pounds, an increase of 14,000,000 pounds on the production of the preceding year. The total quantity of wool imported at the four ports New York, Boston, Philadelphia, and Baltimore, last year was very great, being 93,300,581 pounds, about 20,000,000 pounds more than were imported in 1871, and nearly three and a half times the quantity received in 1870.

The magnitude of the wool industry of the United States is shown by the following statement from the last census taken in June, 1870: There were then 3,454 manufacturing establishments, and the capital invested therein was $132,382,319. They employed 119,859 work-people, and paid $40,357,235 during the year for labor. They consumed 173,380,000 pounds of domestic wool, 46,561,105 pounds of foreign, 34,470,080 pounds of cotton, and 19,574,261 pounds of shoddy.

Shipping Items.

The Panang is still lying at the wharf.

The Northumbria is receiving wheat and discharging ballast at McCracken's wharf.

The bark Caribou and Victoria Cross are both receiving wheat at Flanders' wharf. These vessels will probably go to Astoria to-morrow.

Home Produce Market.

WHEAT—The market exhibits no important change, other than a decrease in transactions and receipts. There is now very nearly enough here to load the vessels in port, and future arrivals are so uncertain that exporters seem to be indifferent about venturing on the market. Prices are nominally given to-day at $1 60 per cental. The dispatches indicate weakening rates in San Francisco.

FLOUR—The receipts continue to average fair, while the demand, except for the local trade, [is dull]. We quote superfine at $4 per bbl, country brands at $4 50a5, and standard extra, $5 50.

OATS—The San Francisco market by to-day's advices seems duller, but ours experiences no important change. We note one or two small transactions at 60 cents per bushel, sacks included.

Markets.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 24.—Flour—Market quiet at $5 75 @6 for extra.

Wheat—500 sks coast, $1 80, 500 sks fair shipping, $1 80, 100 sks choice for seed, private, shipping, $1 80 @1 85.

Barley—400 sks coast, $1 22½; 400 sks Chevalier, for seed, private, at 1½ to 3½ ⅌ lb.

Oats—From $2 10 to $2 20.

Hay—Cargo of volunteer mixed, $18 50; small cargoes of wild oat and wheat, $19 50@21, respectively.

Corn—500 sks choice for export, $1 20.

Potatoes—Better feeling under advices of lighter shipments in the future and the prospect of an improved trade with the interior; Bodega at 75a90c, and Humboldt at $1a1 10 for wharf lots.

Ordinance No. 1288.

AN ORDINANCE RELATING TO WHARVES AND other improvements upon the Willamette River.

The City of Portland does ordain as follows:

Section 1. No person or persons shall drive piles, build a wharf, or wharves, or make any improvements, or deposit any ballast or earth, or make any other obstruction upon that portion of the city front lying easterly and beyond low water mark in the Willamette river, without first obtaining permission of the Common Council.

Section 2. Applications for permission to build a wharf or make other improvements beyond the line of low water mark, shall be signed by the owner or owners of the land fronting the same, and shall specify with convenient certainty the mode and extent of such improvements, the materials to be used, distance beyond the line of low water mark intended to be occupied, the depth of water, and such other information as will enable the Common Council to determine whether the same will unnecessarily interfere with the navigation of the Willamette river, the use of the streets connecting therewith, and also its security against fire.

Section 3. Any person or persons violating any of the provisions of this Ordinance shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof before the Police Court, shall be punished by a fine of not less than ten (10) nor more than one hundred (100) dollars, and each day of maintaining or continuing such violation shall be deemed a new offense and punished accordingly.

Section 4. The Superintendent of Streets shall cause all piles or other material that may be driven or placed upon that part of the city front herein described, contrary to the provisions of this Ordinance, to be removed forthwith.

Passed the Common Council February 22, 1873.

W. S. CALDWELL,
Auditor and Clerk.

Approved Feb. 14, 1873.

DR. C. G. GLASS.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.
NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES
Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of yearsstanding) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

DR. GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned from visiting the principal Hospitals of Europe, and has resumed practice at his Dispensary, 623 Kearny street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco, where his old patients and those requiring his services may find him.

The Doctor has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies, and has returned with increased facilities for the alleviation of human suffering.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible, life-destroying maladies—see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to DR GIBBON, a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate case, without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz. Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, feted breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN.

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions. By inclosing Ten Dollars coin, in registered letter through the Postoffice or through Wells, Fargo & Co., a package of medicine will be forwarded to any part of the Union.

All communications strictly confidential.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who, with bogus sworn-to certificates, dupe the unwary. Some of the self-styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are tradesmen and became too lazy too work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. The only way to avoid imposition is to make inquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets; for, as advertising physicians in eight cases out of ten are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended patients' letters, etc. Dr. Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his offices of his ability to treat disease that he proposes to cure.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 623 Kearney street, corner Commercial, San Francisco, Post Office Box 1,957.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 1,957 ON THE LETTER.

Consultations FREE.

Correspondents will please inform DR. GIBSON that they read hisadvertisement in the Daily Oregonian.

ADVERTISING

Has created many a new business;
Has enlarged many an old business;
Has revived many a dull business;
Has rescued many a lost business;
Has saved many a failing business;
Has preserved many a large business;
And insures success in any business.

GIRARD'S SECRET.—Stephen Girard used to say, in his old age: "I have always considered advertising liberally and long to be the great medium of success in business, and the prelude to wealth. And I have made it an invariable rule to advertise in dull times as well as the busiest, long experience having taught me that money thus spent is well laid out, as by continually keeping my business before the public it has secured many sales that I otherwise would have lost."

ADVERTISE YOUR BUSINESS.
KEEP YOUR NAME BEFORE THE PUBLIC.
JUDICIOUS ADVERTISING INSURES A FORTUNE.
IF BUSINESS IS DULL, ADVERTISE.
IF BUSINESS IS BRISK, ADVERTISE.

The man who didn't believe in advertising has gone into partnership with the sheriff, and the sheriff does the advertising.
